

ember®

Primary Logo

This is the mark to be used on websites, mobile apps, or in printed materials to indicate use of Ember technologies—assuming there is no chance it might imply official status or project/core team endorsement.

The image shows the Ember logo, which is the word "ember" written in a red, lowercase, script font. A small registered trademark symbol (®) is located at the bottom right of the word.

ember

ember

ember

ember

ember

Approved colors

The red logo is preferred for use on black or white backgrounds. In other scenarios, use a solid black or white logo to contrast your background. Only the white logo should be used over the Ember-red background.

Tomster lockup

A fun alternative to the primary logotype is the Tomster lockup. It's designed with a white stroke which allows it to work on all background colors without modification.

Don't remove the ® mark.

Don't add effects to the logo.

Don't use unapproved colors.

Don't stretch or distort the logo.

Don't alter the logotype.

Don't box the logo in.

Don't use unapproved lockups.

Don't imply official endorsement.

Things to avoid

Don't alter or misuse the logo.
You have better things to do.

CURRENT SUBPROJECTS

Subproject logos

The Ember project has numerous subprojects with logos that may be used under the same terms as the primary logo. These designs denote official Ember efforts and may not be used for unofficial projects.

The image displays two logos in a cursive script. The top logo is 'emberdata', with 'ember' in orange and 'data' in dark brown. The bottom logo is 'embercli', with 'ember' in orange and 'cli' in dark brown. Both 'ember' portions include a small registered trademark symbol (®).

Download logos \(ZIP\)

Mascots

Tomster and Zoey are important to the Ember brand, adding personality and playfulness, and help illustrating complex ideas.

They're trademarked, which means they may not be created, modified, or used for any unofficial purpose without our approval. Contact us for commission requests or read the Tomster FAQ for more information.

TOMSTER

ZOEY

Typography

Roboto is used for all typography except code samples, which use the monospaced Source Code Pro.

ROBOTO

AaBbCcDdEe
FfGgHhIiJjKk
LlMmNnOoPp
QqRrSsTtUu
VvWwXxYyZz
0123456789

Bold - 700
Medium - 500
Regular - 400

SOURCE CODE PRO

AaBbCcDdEeFfGgHhIiJjKkLlMmNnOo
PpQqRrSsTtUuVvWwXxYyZz0123456789

Colors

Our primary palette is composed of black, white and Ember red, with occasional accents of blue and yellow. Tints and shades of these colors may be used as long as they don't overpower the main colors.

$ember  PMS 7417C #E04E39		$black  #212121
	$burnt-ember  #9B2918		$gray  #817F7F
$blue  #1E719B		$faint-gray  #EFEBEA
	$light-blue  #74B0CE		$linen  #FDF7F6
$yellow  #FBC840		$white  #FDFDFD

Naming

Avoid naming projects and events anything that implies official endorsement. Keep this in mind when selecting domain names as well.

You can use Ember in the name of local meetups, which are well understood to be unofficial, as well as for other events, assuming the Ember logo is never made part of the name or logo for the unofficial event.

EmberConf and EmberCamp are both used for official purposes and cannot otherwise be used.

Ember is a registered trademark of Tilde Inc.